THE HONGKONG FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

CAPITAL 2,000,000 DOLLARS, in 2,000 Shares of 1,000 Dollars each.

Consulting Committee :-GEORGE F. HEARD, Esq. WM, KAYE, Esq. R. ROWETT, Esq. S. D. SASSOON, Esq. F. BUXEY, Esq. General Managers, - Mesers JARDINE, MATHESON & Co.

Head Office, No. 39, Queen's Road.

HE HONGKONG FIRE INSURANCE COM-PANY, which expires by effluxion of time in a few months, having proved a LC 67. highly successful undertaking, it has been HO & O 361/70, determined by a large number of its shareholders to form a permanent Company, under the same management and with increased Capital.

ilt is proposed to register the Company under the Limited Liability Ordinance. and the amount of the Capital having been fixed at Two Millions of Dollars, it is considered that Insurers will be amply secured thereby, while at the same time each shareholder will know the extent of his individual liability. The capital proposed to be called up amounts to a large sum, and provision will be made for the creation of an ample Reserve Fund, which will, it is expected, in wvery short time accumulate to an amount practically to give the fullest security both to Insurers and Insured, irrespective of the unpaid Capital. oft is intended to anticipate the termination of the Old Company, by dissolving it from and after the 31st December next, and meantres are being taken for that purpose. -In anticipating a successful career for the New Company, it is only necessary to present to the public the results of the Old Company since its establishment in May

.1866, as exhibited by the following figures:-The total premiums collected from the 11th May 1866 to 1997 the present time, a period Vd 6f only two years and five o amonths aniount to.$304,727.72

"The losses which have been 10 Thaid within the same period have amounted to......$130.081.22 and include the large sum of $85,270 lost by the Fire at Hongkong in Nov. 1867. The amount now at the Credit of the Working Account, ---after-paying all Expenses and Re-insurances to date.

These figures fully warrant the most sanguine expectations of success, and it is Bill reasonable to expect that, strengthened with larger Capital, the present undertaking cannot fail to prove at least as successful as the former one. The Old Company, when it entered the field, had to create a business for itself, but the New one, in taking over the outstanding risks and conhections of the Old Company, will at once receive a very large amount of premium, and enter on a profitable and organised business. & Moreover, there is no doubt that the risk of Fire in Hongkong has been greatly diminished by the Building Regula-

Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the know ledge of our readers. We allude to Note: and Queries on China and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. MAN, (English) aged 30, of business It says a good deal for the extent and China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour.

The publication is altogether a very in-HAVE this day authorised Mr C. | teresting one, and wishing it every success, Langdon Davies to sign my name per | we commend it to the attention and support (From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868. We acknowledge with thanks the receipt "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Angle-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better known in India.

This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports" work done for the Hotel must be of China and Japan"] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. It has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennys; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. * * *

We have thus given in outline some of the more prominent portions of the chapter devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghae, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we would fain transfer them to our columns. A complete and intelligible plan of the Imperial City and neighbourhood, gives us an accurate notion of the relative position of its divisions, streets, and places. In the introductory chapter to the notices as uccinct history of that Empire, together with remarks on its government, geograpi and limits, which will be found particularly interesting as throwing a considerable ligh on a part of the world so long entirely, and still comparatively, unknown to Europeans. The descriptions of Nagasaki, Yedo, Yokohama, and the other Treaty Ports of Japan, are as elaborate and entertaining as those of the Chinese ports. A copious index and a useful appendix containing many hints and much appropriate advice to travellers and others, is also included in the volume. The entire work affords a vast amount of information, pleasantly written, and we doubt not will be perused with interest by many who will never visit the Eastern seas.

FIRST NOTICE.

The memorable episode in the recent history of China and of her connexion with Great Britain, which is constituted | rebel occupation; and Vice Admiral by the formation of a brigade of troops armed and disciplined on the foreign system, under the leadership of a British Engineer Officer, together with the extraordinary career of victories achieved by the valour of this force and the genius of its commander, undoubtedly deserves that a careful record be preserved, whil contemporaneous recollection is sti fresh, of its details and attendant circumstances. Of all the anomalies that chance or necessity has introduced in the method of our dealings with the Chinese Empire, none has been more startling than the beyond' the charmed circle, did good fact that to British aid was mainly due the salvation of the present dynasty from imminent overthrow at the hands of its insurgent subjects, almost at the identical moment when the few remaining Carolinian named Burgevine, who, unresources of the same dynasty were being scrupulous and rapacious as his predevainly exhausted in a hostile collision with British forces; whilst, assuredly, the many repulsive features in Ward's no incident in the bistory of the last few years deserves to be regarded by Englishmen with more legitimate pride than the record of the brave and disinterested at its head-quarters, the town of Sung services rendered by their gallant coun- Kinng Fu. some twenty miles from tryman Gordon to a cause which he Shanghai; until at length in Janusupported as the sole existing bulwark of ary, 1863, a stoppage of supplies on security and order. The facts connected with the assumption by Lieut.-Colonel—then Captain— Gordon of the command of the Chinese disciplined troops near Shanghai in 1863 are so generally known by all readers in this country, that to do more than briefly summarize them here would be a useless task. The force which Gordon first led

Finding his way to Shanghai as mate of a trading vessel, after participating in Walker's foray into Nicaragua, Ward contrived to enter the service of the local authorities, to whom he proved useful in collecting and keeping together the band of runaway seamen of all nations with whom they hoped to be able to make head against the rebel incursions which began to threaten seriously in the course of 1860. In that year a great, and it was hoped decisive movement eastward from Nanking was made by two enormous Taiping armies, whose progress to within forty or fifty miles of Shanghai carried all before it, and whose head quarters were triumphantly established in the rich and commanding city of Soochow. By the Macao steamer of this day we learn that H. The error arose however, by our Reporter having been intentionally misled by an Armenian subordinate of the Magistracy, and only half of the defendant's real name consequently appeared in our report of yesterday. Any odium which might be considered attachable to brough the police columns of a newspan thus appears to have been partially shifted from the shoulders of Mr Menahim to those of a gentleman non-resident who owns the surname of Benjamin but is innocent of any connection with either the acts or the sur this explanation on behalf of the gentleman or gentlemen who may be injured. behalf of the public, and also on behalf of Mr Menahim. It appears that an Indian—an old man nearly stone-blind-was walking along the road with a child in his arms. Prisoner (the vagabond alias priest) came forward and began paving compliments to the little child, and then, while kissing the child. quietly removed a silver bangle from man. Prisoner had ran away this morning when taken down to the Registrar General's office. Mr. Center gave the coolie a good character; but Mr. Goodlake said he was compelled to fine the cooling $2. The fine was at once paid.

A barber named Cheung Sam Shin, whose face is familiar to the Gaol authorities, was charged with having stolen blanket. Mr. Goodlake said he would commodate him for six weeks, with the addition of hard labor.

A curious case, illustrative of the manner many men are induced by coolie brokers to start to foreign parts, was heard. Leung Alun, a Kiukiang shopkeeper, was charged with having kidnapped three Chinese under the following circumstances. appears that three tea-driers-most miserable-looking fellows they were-had been induced by the prisoner to go to Hongkong from Shanghai upon a promise of obtaining employment here at the remunerative rate of $10 a month. On reaching this El Doprisoner suggested first that they should go on board one of the coulie-ships now in harbor, and failing that, that they should try Macao; upon hearing the real meaning of these propositions the poor teadriers shouted out "laliloong," and got the prisoner apprehended and charged as above. -His Worship asked if any force was used the prisoner, when the tea-driers said hat the magnetic attraction of the $10 month was the sole inducement. Mr Goodlake said that there was then no kidnapping whatever; and he was not sure that: prisoner had not something against them. Prisoner would be di charged, as there was no kidnapping. He was sorry that tea-driers had not got their $10 a-month but they came down of their own free will they should never "throw away dirty water until they got clean."-The tea-driers said that prisoner had their clothes; when His Worship replied that if they were given up, he would grant a mons. -So soon as prisoner got out of the dock, he "made tracks," and a rather amusing but distressing spectacle was preseuted by the futile and scared scamperings of the poor tea-driers through the precincts of the Court after their $10 man and their clothes. They implored the Court further with tears in their eyes, and a constable was sent with them to discover the Kin king shop-keeper who had devoted his attention unsuccessfully to coolie-catching A coolie in the employ of Government at the Pokfolum, Water Works, was charged with the unlawful possession of some Government tools, viz. a stone-breaking hammer and an iron bolt. A letter from M Kidd, the overseer, was produced, in which the modest request was made that "the fellow might be whipped, in order to deter others from stealing tools." It was shown by the constable that the prisoner dropped the tools and ran away.—Prisoner, how ever said that he got the tools from the overseer, and he did not know the law returning them .- His Worship answered that ignorance would not explain his run ning away. It would be necessary to give him fourteen strokes at the scene of the offence, and then six weeks' hard labor

ADMIRALTY JURISDICTION (Mitchell's Maritime Register, Nov. 7.)

The Court of Admiralty has this week reserved its decision upon a point of consider. able interest to the Owners of Shipping property, and to the legal profession, so far as it is concerned in questions of Maritime Law. A suit has been brought against the Owners of the Guldfare by the repre sentatives of a nerson who had injured by that ship. The nature of the njury sustained, or the manner in which it was inflicted, are not questions which enter into the present consideration of the case The learned counsel for the defendants has excepted to the jurisdiction of the Court and, until that point is decided, it is needless to go into the particulars. That the Court of Admiralty has jurisdiction in cases personal injury, whether committed by the ship—as in a collision—or by the Master or his Officers, is well known ; and this jurisdiction has been upheld where a party sued the Owners of a steam-vessel for the loss of his wife, who was killed by an explosion of the boiler. The most recent, as wel: as the most remarkable, case of the exercisof this jurisdiction by the Court of Admiralty is that of the Sylph, decided towards the close of the last year. The plaintiff waa marine diver, and was engaged in his avocation in the Mersey on a certain day in October, 1866. His diving operations were carried on by means of a barge anchored in the river, to which he was attach. | of England, as it had been solved elsewhere. ed by ropes, with an air tube passing between him and the barge. While he was under the water, the Sylph, a ferry steamer, passed close to the barge, and her paddles fouling the diving gear, the diver was brought up. carried round by one of the paddles, and sustained injuries more or less serious. The case had gone to arbitration, but the received at the residence of Mr MI aren. award not having been executed, the plaintiff took his case to the Court of Admiralty. | tish Chambers of Agriculture, who stated It was contended broadly on the part of the their views upon the law of hypothec, the freshet, and which necessitated the plying defendant that the Court liad no jurisdiction, game laws, road reform, and other kindred and, certainly, no case which would estabdomicile to that of his neighbour. The lish a precedent in favour of the plaintiff's elected an honorary member of the Edinpetition could be found in any of the Ad- burgh Chamber of Commerce. The hon. flals thought portended evil to the City of initialty reports. But it was competent for gentleman made a speech acknowledging the Court to apply general principles; and, the compliment, and dwelt at some length moreover, the 7th section of the Admiralty on the taxation and expenditure of the Court Act (1861) confers a jurisdiction "over | country. any claim for damage done by any ship." The question, therefore, as to the jurisdiction of the Court in cases of personal injury, or of any damage done by a ship, may be regarded as settled, where the parties injured are the plaintiffs; but here we have the case of a suit for damage. instituted by the representatives of the This constitutes a difference. which the Court fully appreciates, and, therefore, it has deferred its decision. Without attempting to anticipate that decision, we may observe, that if the Court of Admiralty exercises a jurisdiction in cases of personal injury, or other damage done by any ship, it would be strange if it should be confined to suits brought by the actual sufferers. It was argued by the defendant's counsel, in the case before us, that no Court had any jurisdiction in suits for personal injury brought by representatives; except under Lord Campbell's Act, which Statute is confined in its operation to Courts of Common Law. But it was very properly answered, that the 7th section of the Admiralty Court Act, 1861; includes the rights given by Lord Campbell's Act, and gives in respect of them a jurisdiction to the Court of Admiralty. It is difficult to see why, if the Court of Admiralty has jurisdiction in respect of claims for wages brought by the representatives of Masters and Seamen, and of claims to Shipping property brought by assignees of bankrupts, the representatives of those who have been sufferers by damage inflicted by a ship should have no locus standi-more especially when there is an indefinite jurisdiction conferred by Statute in respect to such damage. The Admiralty jurisdiction is peculiar and, in some respects, independent. It embraced, at one time, every cause originating in the transactions of Maritime Commerce, and all offences committed on the high seas or on board any British vessel. This jurisdiction has been greatly curtailed by the jealousy, of lawyers who feared its interference with the business of the Courts of Common Law and of Equity. It is gradually recovering much of this lost jurisdiction, and it seems to have been the desire of the late Judge, as it manifestly is of his learned successor, not to exclude any case which can possibly be regard. ed as falting within the jurisdiction. For our part, and speaking in the name of our Maritime Interest, we desire to see that jurisdic. tion extended. There are still defects in our Admiralty procedure which we wish to see amended, and something remains to be done in the way of reducing the scale of ees, more particularly in appeals. But notwithstanding these defects, the Court of Admiralty is a tribunal of great and special value to the Owners of Shipping property, and, indeed, to all concerned in the Carry. ing Trade. Year by year, as our Maritime Trade expands, the utility of a Court constituted to deal solely with questions arising out of that Commerce is felt and understood. The very careful decisions of the late distinguished Judge, and of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council where cases have been appealed, have provided a body of Admiralty law applicable to most cases which may arise, and governed by the most recent Statutes. Questions more particularly of jurisdiction occasionally present themselves, and, when they do, it is satisfactory to und that the Court is ready to entertain them, and reluctant at all times to close its doors against any suitor.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On Tuesday the freedom of the City of Edinburgh was presented to Mr Bright in the presence of a vast assemblage of people in the Music-hall. Mr William Chambers the Lord Provost, was in the chair. Mr been purchased by a prominent American | Bright's speech in acknowledging the hogentleman for $900, for the purpose of nour conferred upon him, was chiefly retrospective. He did not believe that honest statesmanship was an abstruse and difficult branch of knowledge, but he believed that "if, when we come to consider a public question, we were able to strip it of all the things which do not really belong to it and get at the pith and kernel of the matter our intellects are so much on a par, and that, as a whole, we are so anxious to act honestly and rightly, that nearly on all occasions we should be able to come to an early and a wise agreement as to the course which the public should pursue." As illustrating this remark, Mr Bright referred to various matters on which he had differed from public opinion, but upon which public opinion had come round to him. gard to all these questions, he thought that if they had been carefully looked at without prejudice there never could have been any difference of opinion about them He instanced the double Government of India, the Russian war, the American war and lattly, the question of parliamentary reform. What had happened in these cases Mr Bright predicted would happen in the case of Ireland. If we got rid of prejudices and notions of Protestantism and Popery, which really had nothing whatever to do with the question, and simply looked at the pith and kernel of it, we should all agree that it is necessary to adopt and carry out the practical policy which has been sauctioned in the Parliament which is now expiring, and which many persons are confident will be sanctioned by the Parliament which is about to be created. The education question, too, would soon have to be solved by the people It had been solved in America, in Canada, in British North American possessions, in the Australian colonies, and in many of the States of Europe. "We have done so many things," said Mr Bright. "that after all I hope we shall begin to feel that we can do even this." On Wednesday Mr Bright M. P., a deputation of directors of the Scot-
